BOMBAY GAZETTE EXCHANGE STERLING TABLE.

PRICE Rs. 2.

THE Bombay Gazette STERLING EXCHANGE TABLE is a small neatly bound BOOK covering all RATES in 32nds, both Sterling into Rupees and Rupees into Sterling, from 1s. 3 3-4d. to 1s. 4 23-32d. The Book will, it is found, supply a long-felt want, as since the stoppage of the free coinage of silver, rates have varied well within those given both for Demand and six months' Currency Bills, and the extensive and expensive tables in general use are now no longer required. The form adopted will also greatly facilitate the conversion of broken amounts.

The cheapest, best, and most convenient.—Vide Press notices.

"MAX" IN "CAPITAL" SAYS :—"To anyone in want of a most handy set of Exchange Tables, I would recommend the little volume published by The Bombay Gazette. Its range is from 1s. 3 3-4d. to 1s. 4 23-32d., advancing on the sterling side by 32nds up to £100,000, and on the rupee side from 1 pie up to Rs. 10,000,000. The calculations are carried out to two decimal places of the lowest coins. The size of the book is 8 1-2in. by 5 1-2 in. and consists of 65 pages of clear type, well printed and well got-up in every way. If anyone would like to verify these statements and at the same time come into possession of a valuable commercial assistant, he can do so for the modest outlay of two rupees.

I want no man's money unless I am satisfied that Batliwalla's remedies has given him more than his money's worth. Can you blame me for being enthusiastic about the efficacy of Batliwalla's Remedies? I have been selling them for years all over this country and in other countries. Batliwalla's Ague Mixture has attained such a high reputation in the Bombay Druggist's market that if I agree to take only one Rupee per dozen less than the market rate, I can sell one thousand dozens of it in one day only. B. B. AND C. I. RAILWAY.

NOTICE.
INTRODUCTION OF STANDARD TIME.

UNDER instructions from the Government of India the NEW INDIAN STANDARD TIME which will be 32 MINUTES IN ADVANCE OF BOMBAY TIME, and 9 MINUTES IN ADVANCE OF MADRAS TIME, will be introduced on this Railway with effect from the 1st July, 1905, under the following arrangements:—

At Nine minutes before midnight of the 30th June current, the Clocks at all Railway Stations and Offices will be advanced 9 minutes, and the Timings of all Trains shown in the Public Time Tables will thenceforward indicate STANDARD TIME, instead of MADRAS TIME as at present.

In order to avoid inconvenience to Passengers travelling by the Local and Suburban Trains into and out of Bombay for business purposes, the timings of those trains will be put forward 9 minutes in the Time Tables, so that the Trains will practically arrive and depart from Stations at the same hour according to the new Local time, as they do now.

In the case of the Mail and Through Passenger Trains, only such slight alterations will be made as are considered necessary by the change in the Timings of the Local and Suburban Trains.

Sheet Time Tables showing Timings according to Standard Time will be exhibited at Stations one week prior to the introduction of the new arrangement referred to.

Captain Farrell has had the unique advantage of having examined over 60,000 Russian Cobs which were shipped to South Africa during the Boer War and moreover to have been associated for upwards of 15 years with the late Mr. Ali Abdoolah, who was recognised to be one of the best, if not the best judge in India of Arab Horses, and he feels sure that anyone entrusting him with a commission for the purchase of any class of animal will be well pleased with the result.

Captain FARRELL confines himself solely to Professional work and has no connection whatever with any commission stables nor does he do any dealing in horses.

From MRS. ELIZABETH WAGENTREIBER Delhi.—With much pleasure and many thanks I beg to acknowledge the benefit I derived from your far famed "Essence of Papiya." I suffered from Dyspepsia in a most painful form and found great relief after taking the first two bottles and continued to take four more. After the sixth I felt so much better that I left off taking it regularly, but if at any time I feel the old pain and symptoms returning, I immediately take another bottle of the Essence. I am now able to eat more and can change my diet without fear of what were to me most dreaded attacks of indigestion.

VETARZO BRAIN AND NERVE FOOD.

This remarkable compound, the result of the latest developments and achievements of modern chemistry, pharmacology, and therapeutics, is without equal in all cases of defective nerve power, whether induced by worry, over-work, unhealthy climate, dissipation, excess, youthful imprudence, or other influences incidental to the wear and tear and haste of every-day life. Sleeplessness, breathlings, palpitation, nervous dyspepsia, low spirits, mental and bodily prostration, muscular and local weakness, general and nervous debility, faulty nutrition, premature decay or deficiency of the vital forces, impaired vitality, harassing dreams, night disturbances, sudden startings, dimness of sight, dull, slow hearing, loss of memory, inability to perform the various duties of life, or to enjoy the pleasures of social circles, all point either to nothing, or the probability of temporarily unbearable painful periods, backache, bearing down sensations, nervous headache, wasting night sweats, and all other phases of brain and nerve exhaustion, are successfully combated by this highly scientific preparation. Bracing up the system generally, it gives tone to the exhausted nerves, arrests all weakening wasting discharges, involuntary losses, &c., restores the failing energies, and imparts new life and vigour to what had so recently seemed worn out and used up, and valueless.

VETARZO BLOOD MEDICINE.

Never before was there anything like the marvellous curative properties ever be equalled in all cases of poorness, impurity, or other imperfection of the blood from whatever cause arising. No sooner is it imbibed into the system than it permeates and penetrates to the minutest capillaries, overcoming and expelling the virus or disease wherever and in whatsoever form met with, removing all blotches, pimples, scurf, scurvy, eruptions and glandular swellings, discolorations, roughness and unsightly patches, &c. Its effects are almost magical in the treatment of skin, menstrual, scrofula, ringworm, piles and swellings of the joints, discharges, secondary symptoms, eczema, leprosy, psoriasis, bad legs, bad breasts, abscesses, ulcers, sores, goitre or Derbyshire neck, it improves the general health, and quickly removes long-standing bronchitis, asthma, and hacking, straining, spasmodic cough, too often the precursor of consumption.

CAUTION.—Ask for "VETARZO Brain and Nerve Food," or "VETARZO Blood Medicine," whichever is required, and see that you get them as unscrupulous vendors often try to palm off inferior preparations usually their own manufacture, for the sake of extra profit. Price in England, 2/9 and 4/6. Every genuine bottle of these medicines bears the British Government Stamp with the words "VETARZO REMEDIES" impressed thereon, in white letters on a red ground, by direction of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners. Registered Trade Mark "VETARZO." Legal proceedings will be taken against persons pirating.

COMMON SENSE IN A NUTSHELL.—A new medical work on the causes and most scientific and effectual means of self-cure ever discovered for nervous exhaustion, depression of spirits, want of tone and energy &c., with practical observations on marriage and full directions for removing certain disqualifications that destroy the happiness of wedded life. It also treats on urinary derangements, secondary symptoms, stricture, &c., and no sufferer should fail to avail himself of its contents. Post free six penny stamps (England or Colonies), from Stevens Johnson, Mazagon Succession Co., 9, Bond Street, Clarendon Square, London, W.C., or of Agents for above medicines. M. A. P. IN THE GREEN ROOM.

The honoured name of Tennyson has of late been figuring rather prominently in the news of the theatre. Sir Henry Irving has told us in print of the many difficulties he encountered and overcame in fashioning the poet's "Becket" into playable shape; and in the same connection Hedon has been made its one of the leading daily papers to the pretty but unsuccessful play, "Far from the Madding Crowd," which had a brief career some dozen or twenty years ago at, I think, the Globe Theatre. And now, at the Gaiety, "a Lord-and-Lady house, the whole theme of the new piece, "The Spring Chicken" constructed by Mr. George Grossmith junior, out of "La Coquin de Printemps," is encompassed in the oft-quoted line, "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love." At the Gaiety they turn very lightly indeed to thoughts of love, but that is precisely what the public for whom Mr. George Edwardes caters every autumn, would expect. Nor is it a young man's fancy alone that performs the agreeable feat, for the young women, too, who are on in this piece, and women who are no longer young and pass in the same night. And the result of it all is that every member of the Gaiety company is seen at his or her best just as would have been the case if the piece had been called "The Spring Cabbage or The Spring Onion."

To resume the metaphor of poultry. It is not now always tough job to carve to the liking of Gaiety patrons. Mr. George Edwardes knows how to deal with the appetite of his "friends in front" with his eyes shut—it is impossible even for the briefest moment to imagine the Gaiety manager without his eyes open. He has been giving them spring chicken for years and has served it up so well done and with such a delicious sauce that they are never likely to grow tired of it. They love the light and airy music of Mr. Lionel Monckton and Mr. Ivan Caryll. That is the "wing portion." They love the slight and easily digested "book" of the piece. That is the merry thought. And there are other familiar and favourite portions of the spring chicken as it is not necessary to particularise. Enough that they are represented at the Gaiety by the best musical comedy talent in the market. Miss Gertie Millar, a bright and fascinating artist of the lighter stage, is admirably suited with the part of Rosalie, a part—or is not the proper word savoy?—serving-maid, "with songs," and very taking songs they are; and Miss Olive Mercer, who seems to grow prettier and cleverer every spring season, has been particularly well provided with those light melodious ditties descriptive and choral, in which she has moved so charming in other pieces of the same stamp.

Miss Connie Ediss has a "Connie Ediss part," and Mr. Edmund Payne has an "Edmund Payne part," and the unavoidable comic waiter, more unavoidable than ever when there is a spring chicken to be served, is capitally played by Mr. Robert Nainby. Mr. Grossmith works untiringly in a part he has been wisely careful to fashion into one in which he is ever welcome, and he has been similarly accommodating to the personality and qualifications of Mr. Lionel Mackinder, whose mercurial method of acting and double-quick "business" always seem to suggest that his especial mission in Gaiety pieces is to keep the pot a-boiling. This he most certainly does for "The Spring Chicken"—for which, by-the-way some extremely neat lyrics have been written by Mr. Adrian Ross and Mr. Percy Greenbank, both of them masters of the craft. I heard a lady in the stalls say that the dresses were too lovely for words. I echo the opinion, which is a singularly convenient one for a man who cannot describe confections.

We hear a lot of the character actor, but little of the character actress. Perhaps this is because there are so few women on the stage who care about being anything but their own charming selves. Notwithstanding, dramatic authors the theatrical profession number among its members a school of young actresses, whose ambition is beyond looking beautiful, acting gracefully, and being exquisitely dressed. Of these Miss Nancy Price, who gives such a shrewd picture of scheming Mrs. Cashmere in the revived "Cabinet Minister," at the Haymarket, is a shining example.

Since her appearance at His Majesty's as Calypso, when she charmed Ulysses to linger for some time on the shores of the Mediterranean, and in a drawing of character, the best proof of her strength in this direction is shown in the amazingly complete way she is able to cast aside refinement, a quality so characteristic of her own private personality, and assume the manners of the vulgar. The reason of her success in character parts is due to her study of form she gives attention to details which another actress might consider too small to trouble about. "Not a popular definition by any means." To overcome a confirmed habit of smiling, a mannerism that clings to us in spite of fancy and dropping one's eyes awkwardly, is quite another matter. Such mechanisms she words may seem to the average actress regards these two points as the only real essentials in the presentation of a vulgar character; and it is good to see Miss Nancy Price breaking away from the broad and familiar lines, and giving studious thought and marvellously natural expression to the deductions and one Miss mannerisms of the woman or the girl who is a "perfect lady" in the worst sense of the phrase. Miss Price gets behind the skin of the character she plays, and is not content merely with knowing the "how out of her conversation and fumbling over her "rats." In a word, she is thorough.

Here is a little incident which is characteristic of Miss Nancy Price's nature and accounts, perhaps, for the thoroughness she exercises in the direction of her art. She was one of a large party not long ago who were exploring Worcester, and it was agreed that the day of sightseeing should finish in a tour of the cathedral. The weather was oppressively hot, and by the time the hour arrived for the visit to the cathedral Miss Price and her friends were almost in a state of collapse. However, they "did" the interior of the venerable pile exposed gloomily enough, and then began to move towards home—all excepting Miss Price, who had heard that she view from the top of the tower was one of the principal features of the expedition. Thither she pointed out to her friends, but they were beyond even discussing the matter with more than a silently wave. There are something like three hundred steps to that tower, but thoroughness was her motto in keeping to her dramatic studies, and she plodded up every one of them dead beat as she was and came out of the day's work as the only one of the party who had done it properly. This is the sort of determination that will take her to the top of the professional ladder.

Mr. Martin Harvey, who to the regret of many of his admirers has withdrawn "Hamlet" from the Lyric, and to the joy of others has put on his old provincial success "The Only Way," for the benefit of the Actors' Benevolent Fund, is matched admirably to the leading lady of the piece, Mrs. Forbes Robertson, Mrs. Weedon Grossmith and Mr. H. B. Irving) who can use and pathos almost as expertly as hare-foot and mirror. When the popular hero of "The Only Way" dies it is impossible to think of Mr. Harvey except in connection with the greatest success of his life. When he was a very little boy, his huge eyes and his characteristic hands united themselves very considerably in the art of drawing. He evinced such talent for this and for painting that his father, in a compromise to art and commerce, and probably with a greater faith in the latter decided to make a naval architect of him. With this end in view young Martin was sent to study for some time at the Slade schools, where he showed great promise in the "impressionist" painting than in the architectural department of painting (which those who know his artistic powers will scarcely wonder at), and where he was known for his quiet thoughtfulness of manner and his likeness to the Joshua Reynolds type of face.

From the Slade, Mr. Martin Harvey went over to the distinguished himself in the Heatherly studio, which has turned out so many good artists; but that one of the higher talents, the stage, took him from his paints and his palettes at the very when his master was congratulating himself the great progress, and he went to learn elocution of the late John Ryder. This was by the advice W. S. Gilbert, who took a keen interest in young man's career, but who, as the author of delightful Rosencrantz and Guildenstern, did never have dreamed that his very unpromising young friend would blossom out into one of Hamlet's most charming of the future, shortly his course of elocution lessons had ended, he made his debut in a small part at the Court Theatre, under the wing and the management of the late John Clayton and he continued in the element of comedy by subsequently joining the touring company of Betsy, then in a enterprise of Sir Charles Wyndham. He played in this the forward boy who gets on so much better with the pretty serving-maid than with his master. From this management he entered into that and later part one with Sir Henry Irving in the making of him as an actor of and gave him his style.

Mr. Martin Harvey has of Wales's where he by the Only Way, at the time by master, Sir Henry acting in the guillotine play of Robespierre. And now frankly owning up the fact that there were not enough people in London to keep his Danube in the luxuries even of so primitive a manner as that in which the action of the tragedy takes place, he is seeking fresh laurels on "John Chatterton's" play "The Breed of the Trashams." This starring in London as an actor-manager is all in accordance with the prophecy of Mr. Michael Gambon, who on seeing Mr. Harvey many years ago in a very small part, remarked, "It will not be very long before that young man will find himself at the head rank of London's favourites."
